

Priority Product Localizations

Carry your business with you

Priority ERP is available in multiple languages and currencies, as product localization is an integral part of Priority's growth strategy, and in keeping with our continued expansion into new markets, and new global regions.

Highly customized and personalized, Priority offers product localization in more than 20 countries, and local languages. Priority's product localizations enable our customers to venture beyond "thinking global," to managing their end-to-end operational business processes on a "global scale," while meeting both local compliance and practice requirements.

To support its global customer base, Priority consistently adds new product localizations every year in accordance with our strategic business needs and in response to our customers' requests. In keeping with our continued expansion into Europe, for example, recent product localizations were added in countries including Belgium, Germany, Italy, and South Africa.

Priority's product localization has several fundamental aspects, including:

Compliance with government regulations

Adaptation of various formats (e.g. measures, dates, and currency)

Translation of Priority's system interface and messages into other languages

Response to specific market requirements derived from local best practices, integration with popular third parties, and more
